Railroads Pushing For Elimination Of 65,000 Jobs

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's railroads steamed ahead today with plans to eliminate 65,000 so-called featherbed jobs as union leaders sought a way to sidetrack the drastic work cuts.

The carriers were given another green light Wednesday by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in their fight to eliminate jobs they claim are unneeded and effect a saving of more than $592 million a year.

Leaders of five operating rail unions, representing the men who actually man the trains, studied the decision to map plans for the next move in the dispute which began in 1959.

Three Appeals Court judges upheld an earlier ruling in U.S. District Court that a union injunction suit to stop the carriers from effecting the rules changes did not properly state a cause for a permanent injunction.

The judges also ruled that a temporary injunction issued by U.S. District Court Judge Joseph

Accord Hinted On Thant Status

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union and the United States were reported agreed today that U Thant of Burma should be kept as U.N. secretary-general until late in 1966.

Diplomatic sources said the Security Council would meet Friday to recommend Thant's election, and the General Assembly would meet later in the day to elect him.

Thant will be elected for a full five-year term, but in accordance with his stipulation the term will date from the day he took office as acting secretary-general, Nov. 3, 1961. Thant reportedly wants to retire in 1966—when he will be 57—for personal reasons.

Thant, formerly Burma's chief U.N. delegate, was elected last November to be acting secretary-general until April 10, 1963, the date of the expiration of the second five-year term of the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of Sweden. Hammarskjöld had been killed the previous Sept. 17 in a plane crash near Ndola, Northern Rhodesia.

The diplomatic sources said the Burmese diplomat wants to uphold the statutory title of secretary-general and the statutory principle of a five-year term but does not want to serve another five years in the office.

The informants said Soviet-U.S. agreement to Thant's election was reached Wednesday at a meeting of American and Soviet negotiators on the Cuban crisis. They said the Soviets had held up their consent previously in the hope of first getting an agreement to settle that crisis.

The meeting was held at Soviet delegation headquarters. Attending were Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov; Chief U.N. Delegates Valerian A. Zorin of the Soviet Union and Adlai E. Stevenson of the United States, and Chairman John J. McCloy of President Kennedy's Coordinating Committee on Cuba.

The Soviets earlier had backed off from their original proposal to replace the secretary-general by a three-man troika board. Had they pressed it, they would have had to veto Thant in the Security Council.

OSU Alums Meet, Not PCC Members

The Pickaway County Alumni Assn. of Ohio State University will meet 8 p. m. today at the Pickaway County Club for its annual session.

Guest speaker will be John B. (Jack) Fullen, OSU alumni secretary. He will address the local alumni Assn., not members of the Pickaway County Club as was reported yesterday.

Fullen's topic will be "Scholarship Program and Development Fund". Local and area school representatives have been invited.

Pope John Slowed By Stomach Illness

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII is suffering from a stomach disorder that the Vatican said today has "provoked a rather intense anemia." Roman Catholics around the world were asked to pray for his recovery.

A Vatican communique said the anemia—a blood deficiency—resulted from an aggravation of symptoms of "gastropathy," for which the 81-year-old pontiff has been for some time under necessary medical and dietary treatment.

Vatican sources said Pope John awoke "full of spirit" this morning but he was kept in bed in his apartment under the close watch of his doctors.

The Pope also has suffered for years from a prostate condition, and there had been reports surgery might be necessary.

One medical authority here said the term "gastropathy" could mean a simple stomach disorder or a serious ailment, such as an ulcer. The authority said the general term "gastropathy" would not include a prostate condition—an indication that the stomach disorder was a separate ailment.

The communique made no mention of a prostate condition.

Pope John was 81 just last Sunday. The medical authority said anemia could be serious in a man his age—but not necessarily.

Apparently Pope John himself has been concerned about his health for some time.

On Sunday, after celebrating a birthday mass, he said: "We are at the start of our 82nd year. Will we arrive at the end of it? We are not excessively concerned. Any day is a good day to be born and any day is a good day to die."

The night before his birthday, he revealed he had been reading a prayer from the Roman Catholic Office of the Dead.

At another time during the past month he also spoke of his advancing age and his readiness to meet death.

Vatican sources reported that prelates here for the council were being told informally that they might have to remain in Rome after the council recesses Dec. 8.

Possibly 105 Persons on Crashed Jet

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Police digging through the wreckage of a Varig jetliner said today evidence indicated that 105 persons perished, even though the Brazilian airline insists only 97 were aboard.

Many of the bodies were burned or mutilated beyond recognition when the Boeing 707 smashed into La Cruz peak, 15 miles south of Lima, Tuesday while circling for a landing.

Commander Demetrio Tovar of the Civil Guard (police), director of salvage operations, said he counted 105 bodies.

Ramon Cridao, head of the morgue, said, "There were at least 100 bodies."

There was speculation that some passengers—possibly children—boarded the plane at the last moment in Rio de Janeiro before the airliner took off on a flight to Los Angeles and were not included on the list registered beforehand with Varig.

Nineteen of the passengers were Americans.

The Brazilian airliner crashed against the 2,400-foot mountain while circling and waiting for the Lima control tower to give it permission to land.

Three minutes after being told to wait for another airliner to take off, the pilot radioed, "This is an emergency."

The nature of the emergency was not explained.

OEA Asks Delegates To Study Ohio's Public School Needs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A study assignment was waiting for the slightly more than 1,000 teachers and school administrators who reported as delegates today to the Ohio Education Association's annual convention.

They're being asked to analyze results of an OEA-sponsored, $39,500 independent statewide study of Ohio's public school needs.

Committees and the staff of the OEA think 45 of the study's 137 recommendations should be given top priority during the coming session of the legislature. If the convention proceeds on schedule, delegates will vote on this tonight.

The study, first of its type since the 1930s, was authorized at last year's convention and carried out by Ohio School Survey Service, Inc., headed by Drs. W. R. and Marie A. Fleisher. It required almost 10 months and nearly 120,000 contacts with school people and related groups and individuals around the state.

Among the recommendations which OEA convention delegates are being asked to give first priority are:

A special appropriation from the 1963 legislature to enable the State Board of Education to study school district organization and offer a plan in 1965 for wide reorganization of county, city, exempted village and local school districts.

An immediate appropriation of $30 million during the next session for school construction grants-in-aid, plus $5 million for building rehabilitation, to offset "an astronomical rise in school district bonded indebtedness during the last decade."

No increase in the local share of the state school foundation program, which is 12.5 mills—$12.50

OEA Will Vote On Proposal For State Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Education Association convention's 1,000 delegates are to vote Friday on a resolution calling for the legislature to enact a state income tax.

The resolution was approved Wednesday night by the executive committee of the 78,000-member association of teachers and school administrators. It states the OEA should "endorse a state income tax as being the most equitable means of financing public education in Ohio."

If enactment of a state income tax is not feasible in 1963, the resolution reads, needs should be met by broadening the base of the sales tax and increasing excise taxes in certain areas.

If the convention adopts the proposal, the OEA will join two other big organizations, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and the Ohio AFL-CIO, in their endorsement of a state income tax.

Another resolution to be put to the OEA representative assembly calls for establishment of a state professional practices board to govern the teaching profession.

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Two new trustees have been appointed by Denison University for three-year terms. They are Leroy E. JFK Seeks Facts on Soviet Policy To Ease World Tension

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan flew here today for follow-up talks on the Cuban crisis and U.S.-Soviet relations with President Kennedy and other U.S. officials.

He said he hoped the discussions would be "pleasant and possibly useful."

President Kennedy reportedly hopes to get some indications from Mikoyan as to whether P. S. Khrushchev wants to move beyond the easing of the Cuban crisis into some general improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations.

But even as Mikoyan's Russian plane touched down at Andrews Air Force Base it was learned that Kennedy administration leaders were not optimistic on the basis of talks which Mikoyan and U.S. officials had held in New York Wednesday.

Informants did not disclose any details of the discussions but said they showed that on various issues the differences between Washington and Moscow were still very wide.

Soviet informants said that Mikoyan will leave the United States Saturday morning to return directly to Moscow. He is on his way home from a long series of conferences with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Mikoyan is to see Kennedy late today.

The Soviet trouble-shooter intends to remain until Friday. Thus he may return to the White House for another conference if progress is made in his meeting with Kennedy today.

Mikoyan will also confer with other administration officials. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has invited him to lunch Friday and Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall will be host at a dinner tonight at Udall's home. Mikoyan was one of Udall's hosts last summer when the secretary toured the Soviet Union.

The President was expected to emphasize to Mikoyan that the Early Report Will Be Made To President

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—President Kennedy's swift recourse to the Taft-Hartley Act raises the probability that the strike against Lockheed Aircraft Corp. will be halted soon — perhaps within a week.

In the meantime, says the union, work on the vital missile and plane projects has been halted. But the firm says work is continuing.

Only hours after the International Association of Machinists struck the giant aerospace firm Wednesday, the President invoked the labor act, saying the strike would "imperil the national health and safety" if permitted to continue.

Kennedy appointed a three-man report to him no later than Monday.

On the basis of that report, the President will decide whether to ask federal court for a Taft-Hartley injunction, which would suspend the strike for 80 days. New efforts to reach agreement could be made during this "cooling-off" period.

News files indicate a presidential request for such an injunction has never been denied.

The chairman of the President's three-man board is Prof. Arthur M. Ross, director of the University of California Institute of Industrial Relations. He announced shortly after his appointment the board will meet in Los Angeles Friday with Lockheed and union representatives.

The principal unresolved issue is whether Lockheed employs in California, Florida and Hawaii will be permitted to vote on a union shop proposal. Under a union shop, all eligible workers have to join the union to keep their jobs.

A special board appointed by the President earlier this year recommended that union shop elections be conducted at aerospace firms. But Lockheed refused to allow such an election, saying it was unilaterally opposed

Five Divisions Were Ready for Cuban Action

WASHINGTON (AP) Five of the Army's paratroop, infantry and tank divisions were ticketed for possible invasion of Cuba before the crisis cooled off, it was learned today.

About 100,000 Army men were involved in the preparations, including those manning antiaircraft missile batteries and support elements moved into Florida.

President Kennedy's inspection of part of the 1st Armored Division at Ft. Stewart, Ga., on Monday disclosed that part of this outfit had been shifted from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the East Coast starting Oct. 22, when the crisis was approaching a climax.

Informants said four other Army divisions were designated for the operation, if the decision had been made to invade.

They were identified as the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., the 101st Airborne at Ft. Campbell, Ky., the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan., and the 2nd Infantry Division at Ft. Benning, Ga.

These five divisions account for more than half of the eight-division force the Army maintains in the United States as a strategic reserve. The other eight Army divisions are in Germany, Korea, and Hawaii.

Only the 1st Armored was moved. Its more than 15,500 men were flown east from Texas in military and civilian planes, while its tanks and other heavy gear were carried by rail.

Nine Members Of One Family Lost in Fire

RENOVO, Pa. (AP)—A residential fire in the village of Keating early today took the lives of nine of the 12 members of the family of Walter N. Brown, 41.

The fire victims besides Brown were:

His wife, Wilma, 37, and these children: Marlene, 15; Leona, 13; Daniel, 10; Susan, 8; Linda, 7; Nancy, 5, and Bradley, 4.

Two of the Browns' 10 children were spending the night with friends.

Another daughter is married and lives at another address.

The Brown house was of two-story frame construction with eight rooms. Keating, which has a population of 35, is in the remote northwestern corner of Clinton County, about 12 miles southwest of Renovo and some 40 miles north of Lock Haven, the county seat.

Railroads Pushing For Elimination Of 65,000 Jobs

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's railroads steamed ahead today with plans to eliminate 65,000 so-called featherbed jobs as union leaders sought a way to sidetrack the drastic work cuts.

The carriers were given another green light Wednesday by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in their fight to eliminate jobs they claim are unneeded and effect a saving of more than $592 million a year.

Leaders of five operating rail unions, representing the men who actually man the trains, studied the decision to map plans for the next move in the dispute which began in 1959.

Three Appeals Court judges upheld an earlier ruling in U. S. District Court that a union injunction suit to stop the carriers from effecting the rules changes did not properly state a cause for a permanent injunction.

The judges also ruled that a temporary injunction issued by U. S. District Court Judge Joseph

Sam Perry in October preventing the rules changes until the Appeals Court acted, was proper.

Charles Luna, president-elect of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said his union plans to take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Luna said the five unions—firemen, engineers, trainmen, conductors and switchmen—will meet Monday in Washington to decide on their next joint move.

The unions previously have threatened to strike if the work rule changes are instituted by the railroads. Such a strike could spark a major rail labor crisis.

However, observers in the Appeals Court pointed out that the current ruling has built-in delays which could mean more months of courtroom maneuvers.

One possible reaction in the dispute is the appointment of an emergency board by the President. Such a move by President Kennedy, under terms of the Railway Labor Act, would postpone both rule change and strike for 60 days, possibly longer.

Wednesday's opinion said evidence indicated the carriers in 1961 paid $592,062,000 in costs and wages "for unneeded employees occupying redundant positions, pay for time not worked, compensation that was not commensurate with the value of services and maintaining equipment and facilities" for superfluous jobs.

The court observed that the public interest was involved. The judges also criticized the unions for threatening a walkout which could lead to a "national transportation paralysis."

Under the rules changes the jobs of 40,000 firemen who work on diesel locomotives and 25,000 train and yard workers would be lopped off.

The five brotherhoods represent 210,000 on train employees on 195 railroads.

Final Touches Being Put on Sewer Projects

Circleville's Sanitary Sewer District No. 2 has been completed except for a 200-foot branch yet to be tested on N. Pickaway St.

Service Director Ronald Sharrett said the main trunk line is now in service. Residents in the district have proceeded to tap on.

Construction on the City View sewer, Walnut Creek Pike area, is expected to be completed this week, Sharrett said.

The service director said the majority of house service lines at City View can be connected into the sewer beginning next week.

SHARRETT noted that any settlement or irregularities brought on by reason of construction, on both sewer jobs, will be maintained by the respective contractors.

The Sewer District No. 2 project was installed by the McFarland Co. of Circleville. Krebs-Hoskinson Co. of Newark handled the City View job.

Picket Line Is Ignored At Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A picket line appeared outside the Chevrolet transmission plant on Alexis plant's 3,000 employees ignored the pickets and reported for work, their jobs Wednesday in a dispute resulting from the firing of an employee who apparently got man.

Workers in the plant are members of Local 14, United Auto Workers.

Officials of the local were not available for comment.

The company termed the picketing "an unauthorized disturbance."

Algeria Bans Commie Party

ALGIERS (AP)—The Algerian government has banned the Communist party.

Information Minister Mohamed Hadj Hamou told newsmen Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's government decided on the ban several days ago. He gave no further details.

Wednesday night the Arab language Communist party paper Al Hourya was banned.

The information minister said it had not been decided what, if any, action would be taken against the leaders of the party. Head of the Algerian Communist party is Henri Alleg, a European.

Ben Bella has been studying with his Cabinet for several days the question of the Communist party and internal problems.

The Communist party's membership has never been published, but some unofficial estimates put the figure at about 50,000 in a country of 10 million population.

During the seven-year nationalist revolution the Communists at first did not support the rebellion, then reversed their stand, but never took an important role in the fight.

The Algerian rebel organization had close ties, however, with the Soviet Union, Communist China and other Communist countries.

No increase in the local share of the state school foundation program, which is 12.5 mills—$12.50 per $1,000—on the assessed value of property in the school district. If a district is wealthy enough to meet its entire budget this way, it gets only a minimum guaranteed amount from the state. Otherwise, it gets the difference.

A concentrated effort to assure that every Ohio high school enrolls at least 500 students, that classes have a maximum of 27 students, and that no high school failing to meet minimum standards be allowed to get or keep a state charter.

Although the School Survey Service study made no recommendation, the OEA's Financial Support Committee incorporated a 46th top priority recommendation calling for money from the legislature for help to school districts with a number of "culturally deprived" youngsters from slum areas.

Education Listed As Key to Growth

The industrial growth of Ohio depends on what Ohioans do to improve education in public schools during the next few years, Martin Essex, superintendent of Akron schools, reported at a noon luncheon of the Ohio Education Assn. yesterday in Columbus.

The Akron school head, who also serves as head of the Committee on Financial Support of Public Education sponsored by the OEA, released a report on "First Priorities To Improve Ohio Schools."

The report places emphasis on the alternative of "Ohio becoming a dynamic young giant or a depressed area" and outlines 45 "first priority" recommendations calling on legislators, school administrators, teachers, board members and all citizens to help make sure Ohio chooses the path to greatness.

The OEA's "plan of action" was to be submitted today to the 1,000 delegates currently attending the OEA annual convention.

The report said "the key to the future is in the classroom. What happens to Ohio in the 1970s depends upon the priorities which are placed upon educational quality, from kindergarten through the university, in Ohio during the 1960s.

"Evidence continues to mount in impressive volume that education is a decisive factor, in the location of new factory plants and research laboratories, in acquiring government contracts, in improved business, and in increased earning levels," Essex said.

The report warned that the task ahead is "one of monumental dimensions. Ohioans will have to make an unusually large increase in their educational investment during the remainder of the decade in order to capitalize upon the unusual position in which the state finds itself today. The investment is inescapable."

The OEA based its list of priority recommendations on the results of a 10-month statewide survey of schools and school needs conducted by an independent survey agency, Ohio School Survey Service Inc., headed by Drs. W. R. and Marie A. Fleisher, directors of Cooperative Educational Enterprises and on studies by its own departments and commissions.

The studies were carried out under the direction of a special committee, headed by Essex.

The first thing that must be done, the report pointed out, is a drastic upgrading of the educational program, including much more emphasis on educational experimentation, research and evaluation.

To accomplish these ends, the report recommended, among other things, that each city, county and unincorporated village budget of education included in its budget, funds

Noted Change In Store for JFK's Sister

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Patricia Kennedy Lawford, the President's sister and wife of Peter Lawford, is going to have quite a change of pace during the next month.

She'll visit the wrecking yard where autos smashed in traffic accidents are interred. And she'll visit children at the St. John's Hospital, to make a survey.

The first activity sounds like a strange choice for a Kennedy and an actor's spouse. It isn't a choice. It's a court sentence, imposed Wednesday when she pleaded guilty of driving with an expired operator's license.

The clinic survey also is part of the sentence. She'll write a report on the number of children who are patients being treated for accident injuries.

There's a personal touch to the hospital chore. The center is named for her brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., killed in the war.

Her junkyard report is expected in two weeks, the hospital survey in 30 days.

The court decree was made by Municipal Judge W. Blair Gibbons, widely known for his unusual penalties in traffic cases. He once had a coffin brought into his court and stood tapping it as he lectured 30 motorists.

The chairman of the President's three-man board is Prof. Arthur M. Ross, director of the University of California Institute of Industrial Relations. He announced shortly after his appointment the board will meet in Los Angeles Friday with Lockheed and union representatives.

The principal unresolved issue is whether Lockheed employees in California, Florida and Hawaii will be permitted to vote on a union shop proposal. Under a union shop, all eligible workers have to join the union to keep their jobs.

A special board appointed by the President earlier this year recommended that union shop elections be conducted at aerospace firms. But Lockheed refused to allow such an election, saying it was unalterably opposed

Five Divisions Were Ready for Cuban Action

WASHINGTON (AP) Five of the Army's paratroop, infantry and tank divisions were ticketed for possible invasion of Cuba before the crisis cooled off, it was learned today.

About 100,000 Army men were involved in the preparations, including those manning anti-aircraft missile batteries and support elements moved into Florida.

President Kennedy's inspection of part of the 1st Armored Division at Ft. Stewart, Ga., on Monday disclosed that part of this outfit had been shifted from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the East Coast starting Oct. 22, when the crisis was approaching a climax.

Informal sources said four other Army divisions were designated for the operation, if the decision had been made to invade.

They were identified as the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., the 101st Airborne at Ft. Campbell, Ky., the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan., and the 2nd Infantry Division at Ft. Benning, Ga.

These five divisions account for more than half of the eight-division force the Army maintains in the United States as a strategic reserve. The other eight Army divisions are in Germany, Korea, and Hawaii.

Only the 1st Armored was moved. Its more than 15,000 men were flown east from Texas in military and civilian planes, while its tanks and other heavy gear were carried by rail.

'Mail Early for Christmas' Suggested by Post Office

Postmaster Charles Walters said today, "Right now is the time to start your Christmas cards and gifts on their way. The calendar says Christmas is less than a month away, but here in the post office it will be Christmas every day from now on."

Pope . . .

These reports underlined the apparent seriousness of the Pope's condition. So did the very publication of the communiqué and its statement that Roman Catholics had an "obligation of special prayers" for the Pope's speedy recovery.

But the communiqué itself did not say how serious the Pope's condition was. A Vatican communiqué said "everything leads to the hope that through the therapeutic treatment now being followed, the Holy Father will be able to resume" his normal activity as soon as possible.

"Since last Tuesday," the communiqué said, "audiences have been interrupted because of the accentuation of symptoms of a gastropathy, for which the Pope has been for some time under necessary medical and dietary treatment, and which has provoked a rather intense anemia."

The communiqué made no mention of surgery.

Pope John became ill on Tuesday and canceled a series of afternoon audiences with prelates attending the Ecumenical Council. Vatican sources said that night he was suffering from a cold but that he planned to hold his regular Wednesday general audience.

The audience was canceled suddenly, after hundreds of persons had gathered for it. The Vatican press office then announced that the pontiff's cold had gone into influenza. Later, officials told newsmen it would be more correct to refer only to an indisposition but they did not specify the ailment.

A Vatican source said the Pope's personal physician, Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, spent 40 minutes with the pontiff today. He had seen him for an hour Wednesday.

One report said Gasbarrini had advised the Pope he must take things easier from now on, reserving himself for such necessary religious functions as canonizations. Such restriction would curtail the frequent trips Pope John likes to take outside the Vatican, to visit churches, jails, hospitals and religious shrines.

The machinists said they would accept no contract until a union shop election was held. President Thomas McNett of Machinists' District 727 said Wednesday that "when the (Taft-Hartley) injunction effort to obtain the type of contract that we sought in our prolonged negotiations and, if unable to obtain it, we will strike again."

Lockheed Vice President John Canaday said the company would "welcome use of Taft-Hartley."

If a Taft-Hartley injunction is issued, Lockheed's latest contract offer could be submitted to a compulsory vote of workers in the bargaining unit represented by the machinists. Both union and non-union workers would vote.

Lockheed called for such a vote last Saturday, when it submitted an offer providing for wage increases of about 25 cents hourly, spread over three years. Average pay under the old contract was $2.95 an hour.

In California, the strike affects Lockheed-California Co. plants at Burbank and Palmdale, and Lockheed Missile & Space Co. facilities at Sunnyvale, Van Nuys and the Missile Test Center at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Also affected are the Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center in Florida and Lockheed Tracking Station at Honolulu. At Cape Canaveral, only the Polaris missile project, among dozens of missile-space programs, appeared to be seriously affected by the walkout.

"Every effort should be made to enroll at least 500 students in grades 9-12 in each high school of the state."

The OEA, teachers, professors, counselors and the General Assembly step up efforts to recruit the best possible teachers for Ohio's classrooms.

Recommendations should be adopted by the 1963 General Assembly to reverse the trend of the past few years during which state support of public education in Ohio has slipped from 48 per cent of the total cost to the present 31 per cent.

Recommendations also called for an immediate appropriation of $30 million in grants for school building construction to needy districts and $5 million in grants for building rehabilitation.

United States will either get international safeguards for the removal of Soviet nuclear weapons from Cuba or it will continue its surveillance indefinitely.

He was also expected to stress heavily that his no-invasion pledge does not mean U.S. acceptance of or protection for the Castro regime. It means, officials said, that the United States does not choose to try to destroy Castro by military means but will use such means if necessary in response to any Cuban aggression.

Khrushchev sent Mikoyan to Havana Nov. 3. He came back to New York last Monday, having spent a little more than three weeks on a mission he never explained to U.S. officials and about which they are still mystified. If accept international inspection in Cuban territory, he failed.

While he was there, however, the Soviet government did remove 42 nuclear missiles from Cuba under partial U.S. scrutiny and Khrushchev promised a week ago that in 30 days he would take out nuclear-capable IL28 jet bombers. There are 30 or more of those aircraft in Cuba.

It was indicated that Kennedy would decide as he went along how to handle the Mikoyan conference. The talk could prove to be of considerable importance, particularly in its direct bearing on future U.S.-Soviet relations over Cuba.

Presumably Mikoyan decided to come here upon instructions of Khrushchev. Since he was forced to back down in Cuba, the Soviet premier has thrown out a number of hints or comments about extending an improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations into other fields. But there have been no concrete moves.

United States will either get international safeguards for the removal of Soviet nuclear weapons from Cuba or it will continue its surveillance indefinitely.

He was also expected to stress heavily that his no-invasion pledge does not mean U.S. acceptance of or protection for the Castro regime. It means, officials said, that the United States does not choose to try to destroy Castro by military means but will use such means if necessary in response to any Cuban aggression.

Khrushchev sent Mikoyan to Havana Nov. 3. He came back to New York last Monday, having spent a little more than three weeks on a mission he never explained to U.S. officials and about which they are still mystified. If accept international inspection in Cuban territory, he failed.

While he was there, however, the Soviet government did remove 42 nuclear missiles from Cuba under partial U.S. scrutiny and Khrushchev promised a week ago that in 30 days he would take out nuclear-capable IL28 jet bombers. There are 30 or more of those aircraft in Cuba.

It was indicated that Kennedy would decide as he went along how to handle the Mikoyan conference. The talk could prove to be of considerable importance, particularly in its direct bearing on future U.S.-Soviet relations over Cuba.

Presumably Mikoyan decided to come here upon instructions of Khrushchev. Since he was forced to back down in Cuba, the Soviet premier has thrown out a number of hints or comments about extending an improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations into other fields. But there have been no concrete moves.

More Money Requested for Liquor Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With $25,000 already spent, the State Emergency Board is being asked today to appropriate more money for the special grand jury probe of influence peddling in the Ohio Liquor Department.

The two officials directing the investigation, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy and Special Counsel Adrian Fink Jr. of Cleveland, were reported at odds on how much more money it will take.

McElroy, who is seeking to expedite the probe, favors another $25,000. Fink, indicating he would like to call numerous witnesses, wants about $50,000.

The investigation resulted from allegations by a Chicago distiller that he paid influence money to have his brands listed in Ohio's monopoly liquor stores.

Injunction Halts Detachment Move

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A temporary injunction halting a detachment move by about 900 residents of Fort Shawnee has been issued by Common Pleas Judge Paul Dull.

The officials said residents of the affected area provide from one half to two-thirds of the village's revenue. Fort Shawnee's total population is 4,108.

TODAY In History

Today is Thursday Nov. 29, the 333rd day of 1962. There are 32 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1857, the Portuguese captured the French ship Charles-et-Georges and charged its officers and men with slave running. The French claimed the vessel carried free African emigrants. The Portuguese returned the ship under protest and the French emperor abandoned the idea of free emigration.

In 1887, Polish pianist Josef Hofmann II made his American debut at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Back to the salt mines.

For several weeks, since the Cuban crisis died down, there has been a kind of national sigh of relief and perhaps even elation in the hope now maybe things couldn't have been much worse.

But now Secretary of State Dean Rusk has squirted some ice water on any notion that the world ought to begin getting better now. Rusk, who is usually bland and seldom says anything startling, wasn't starting in an interview televised Wednesday by CBS.

He tried to be practical, as he put it, and urged caution about optimism. In fact, he said, the Cuban experience has made both the West and the Communist world more cautious.

That caution has to take three directions:

Hotel Blaze Still Probed

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fire Department investigators say they have been unable to find a cause for the blaze that raged through the 10th floor of the Metropole Hotel Tuesday night.

Chief Dan Vogel said preliminary study indicated the fire may have started in a paint storage room.

The blaze brought 17 fire companies swarming into the downtown area. It took them three hours to put it out.

The fire was confined to the 10th floor which contains the linen room, repair shop and storage areas, but water coming through the ceiling forced guests on the ninth to sixth floors to be evacuated.

Vogel said investigators have declined to set an estimate of damage.

1. The Russians were caught trying to slip a fast one over with their missiles in Cuba. They will be viewed with renewed suspicion no matter what they say, particularly since they lied about the missiles.

2. The missiles, among other things, gave the Russians a chance to see whether President Kennedy was tough enough to do anything about it. He was. They'll have to be cautious about testing him again.

3. The Russian retreat in Cuba, a war, doesn't mean 'they'll back down somewhere else, if it's more to their liking. So the United States will have to be cautious in any future showdown.

And Rusk, in the hour-long interview, said this country has even "cautioned our friends from drawing too many conclusions from the Cuban experience."

He said: "It would be, I think, wrong to say that because this situation in Cuba came out the way it did that therefore a lot of other questions are going suddenly in fundamental respects."

"I do think that this experience has caused an element of caution on all sides—in Moscow as well as elsewhere."

One by-product of the Cuban affair — an indirect result that could not have been planned by the Kennedy administration and perhaps was not even thought of at the time—is the increasingly bad blood between the Soviets and Red China.

The latter denounced the Russians for yielding so readily to American warnings to pull their missiles out of Cuba.

The Sino-Soviet split could lead to one of the greatest breaks the West ever got: A real split between the two Communist allies. This, too, is pie-in-the-sky stuff. Rusk reduced this to practicality.

He acknowledged "very serious and very reaching" differences between Moscow and Peking. But he mentioned that the differences are not on halting world revolution but only on how to bring it about.

Even on this one he said: "Let's see how the story comes out."

Handtmann was charged with failure to yield to pedestrians. The Gehrings had celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary Tuesday night.

Santa Claus will arrive in Ashville Dec. 21 and give out treats that evening. It is hoped that he also will be in town on the following morning, appearing on a float with his reindeer.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers to be elected for the new year beginning in January: Rolland Featheringham, president; Warren Brown, vice-president; Charles Morrison, secretary; and Gene Tosca, treasurer. They were unanimously accepted.

Glitt explained the purpose of a Community Improvement Program being planned for the community of Ashville by several organizations. He appointed the following to serve on the committee: Warren Bastian, Orlean Hines, and newly elected president, Rolland Featheringham.

More Money Requested for Liquor Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With $25,000 already spent, the State Emergency Board is being asked today to appropriate more money for the special grand jury probe of influence peddling in the Ohio Liquor Department.

The two officials directing the investigation, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy and Special Counsel Adrian Fink Jr. of Cleveland, were reported at odds on how much more money it will take.

McElroy, who is seeking to expedite the probe, favors another $25,000. Fink, indicating he would like to call numerous witnesses, wants about $50,000.

The investigation resulted from allegations by a Chicago distiller that he paid influence money to have his brands listed in Ohio's monopoly liquor stores.

Injunction Halts Detachment Move

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A temporary injunction halting a detachment move by about 900 residents of Fort Shawnee has been issued by Common Pleas Judge Paul Dull.

The residents voted in a special election last Nov. 13 to detach their section of the Allen County community. Village officials protested and sought the injunction, claiming irregularities in petitions for the election.

The officials said residents of the affected area provide from one half to two-thirds of the village's revenue. Fort Shawnee's total population is 4,108.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Back to the salt mines.

For several weeks, since the Cuban crisis died down, there has been a kind of national sigh of relief and perhaps even elation in the hope now maybe things would get better because they couldn't have been much worse.

But now Secretary of State Dean Rusk has squirmed some ice water on any notion that the world ought to begin getting better now. Rusk, who is usually bland and seldom says anything startling, wasn't startling in an interview televised Wednesday by CBS.

He tried to be practical, as he put it, and urged caution about optimism. In fact, he said, the Cuban experience has made both the West and the Communist world more cautious.

That caution has to take three directions:

1. The Russians were caught trying to slip a fast one over with their missiles in Cuba. They will be viewed with renewed suspicion no matter what they say, particularly since they lied about the missiles.

2. The missiles, among other things, gave the Russians a chance to see whether President Kennedy was tough enough to do anything about it. He was. They'll have to be cautious about testing him again.

3. The Russian retreat in Cuba, a war, doesn't mean they'll back down somewhere else, if it's more to their liking. So the United States will have to be cautious in any future showdown.

And Rusk, in the hour-long interview, said this country has even "cautioned our friends from drawing too many conclusions from the Cuban experience."

He said: "It would be, I think, wrong to say that because this situation in Cuba came out the way it did that therefore a lot of other questions are going suddenly in fundamental respects."

"I do think that this experience has caused an element of caution on all sides—in Moscow as well as elsewhere."

One by-product of the Cuban affair — an indirect result that could not have been planned by the Kennedy administration and perhaps was not even thought of at the time—is the increasingly bad blood between the Soviets and Red China.

The latter denounced the Russians for yielding so readily to American warnings to pull their missiles out of Cuba.

The Sino-Soviet split could lead to one of the greatest breaks the West ever got: A real split between the two Communist allies. This, too, is pie-in-the-sky stuff. Rusk reduced this to practicality.

He acknowledged "very serious and very reaching" differences between Moscow and Peking. But he mentioned that the differences are not on halting world revolution but only on how to bring it about.

Even on this one he said: "Let's see how the story comes out."

Handmann was charged with failure to yield to pedestrians. The Gehrings had celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary Tuesday night.

From First to Fourth

Simultaneous, but unrelated, warnings about the future of American merchant shipping have come from a government official concerned with United States commerce and chief corporate officer of one of the nation's large oil companies. Although directed to different audiences, and recited from a different point of view, the story each of these men had to tell was one of declining American shipping at a time when world commerce was reaching its most dynamic period in history.

Sen. John M. Butler, retiring member of the Senate Commerce Committee, predicted a gloomy future for American merchant shipping as he embarked on a study of ship-building in Britain and West Germany. The senator said that with less than 10 per cent of American foreign cargoes transported by ships under the Stars and Stripes, ship replacements are not keeping pace of current obsolescence.

A "crucial weapon" was the way James V. C. Malcolmson, vice president of Texaco Inc., described the Soviet tanker fleet to a merchant marine industries post of the American Legion. The Russian fleet, while now only about 2 per cent of the world's tanker capacity, is the fastest growing and the youngest in terms of average ship age.

U. S. tankers have dropped from first place to fourth in number of vessels in the last five years. It is now the oldest fleet in the world, with at least half the ships dating back 15 years or more. It has the smallest cargo capacity per vessel of any fleet.

Ownership of the largest, strongest merchant fleet was once a requirement for military security. Today, it is a necessary tool in the emergence of economic warfare, both between enemies and among friends. North America has never known industrial and commercial competition on the scale that is now developing in Western Europe, Japan and to some extent, the Soviet empire.

When competition between nations and continents becomes really keen, the advantage will lie with the supplier possessing the most efficient means of transportation. The U. S. merchant fleet is not only inefficient by modern standards, it is steering toward total annihilation.

Seasonal Changes Have Majesty

NEW YORK (AP)—The change of any season has its landmarks of majesty:

They affect all things. Here are some ways you can tell when winter's here:

Frost confines the window, and little girls and boys decorate in its meadow their fingered decisions of adventure: "I love Orville, but Ronald is a skunk."

The grass needs no cutting and is crisp underfoot. It gives a dry testimony of any trend in passing.

The big family question becomes, "Is the pond frozen over enough to skate on?" The children say, "Yes." The parents say, "Well, if it stays below freezing one more day—then, well, maybe."

The advantages of using snow tires are widely presented in ads.

The old lady who has so much gossip about her neighbors hesitates to chance icy streets to inform her grocer.

The grocer decides the best way to get rid of his leftover prime sirloin is to make a bargain in hamburger.

There are three viewpoints about the weather: Winters are getting colder, winters are getting warmer, and the atomic bomb is responsible for the difference, good or bad.

Weather becomes increasingly the major topic of conversation, any man's authority is confirmed by the memory of what his grandfather had to say on the subject.

Learned discussions and arguments ensue. The observed breadth of a caterpillar's belly and the predictions of a rural almanac vie for significance. Each foretells the winter.

There are some ordinary manifestations of seasonal change that go on without much attention—such as the abatement of the bear's curious paw in hibernating sleep, the seek of silent hideaways by noisy insects, the death of vanished flowers that tempt the bee not now with hidden honey.

Across the frozen landscape littered by the frozen reward of yesterday's spring leaves, the life that will not let go still lingers—the doe that steps with stilted grace, the rabbit whose nose is a mobile geography of his world of smell, and other small lives that make a tumult of their own amid the humus.

Yes, and you can also tell when winter is here when:

A son doesn't want to borrow a car because he'd have to shovel out two feet of snow in the driveway to make an exit.

If you live in an apartment, the heat doesn't come on until 6 a.m. Yep, and down on the farm it's no trouble at all to tell when winter is there.

The animals stamp in their shelters and push wet muzzles to sniff the cold air outside. They have such grave sweet faces.

And, oh, the great fine smell of a barn in winter, the drying hay, the wonderful smell of huddled cattle enriching, by their being, the scent of next spring's tumult of clover.

By such separate testimonies, wherever he may be, one knows that winter is here.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Doing business today—or making a living—or planning for your or your children's future—increasingly involves you with your governments at their various levels.

In every corporation and individual's calendar are three question marks: taxes, government spending, and the offspring of the two, Treasury deficits and borrowing.

In today's changing climate for management, labor and consumers, what the federal government does about these three might mean balmy days, or storms.

The complicated federal tax system determines much more of business thinking and planning than it did a generation back. The system affects many a firm's performance, as shown both in the profit and loss sheet and in the price curve of its shares on the stock market.

Rising state and local taxes also play a big role in business decisions and balance sheets. Often they determine where new plants are built, sometimes where old ones can hang on. Taxes influence the well-being of employees and their attitude to their present jobs and location.

The change that 1962 has pointed up in business prospects and in economic growth bolsters the plan to revise the old federal tax system. The administration says it will ask Congress to lower rates on both corporate and individual income levies, and to reform the system in general. This includes closing loopholes dear to the hearts of some industries, business executives and individuals.

Thus today, as business tries to adjust to new conditions governing profits, pricing and labor relations, it wonders what tax changes Congress may finally make, and their timing.

Some observers doubt that tax cuts in themselves will spur as much of an increase in consumer spending for goods, or business spending for new equipment, as the administration hopes. But most of those heard from say it will have a big, and perhaps deciding, effect in getting the economy moving faster next year.

Government spending plans are just as much on industry's mind as it adjusts to today's conditions. The power of the federal dollar, especially as reflected in the stock market, is shown by awarding a development contract for a radically new jet fighter to General Dynamics and Grumman Aircraft.

Changed overnight were the prospects for more jobs, as well as more profits.

Government spending pumps money into the economy; government taxation takes money out of it. Next year the plan is to take less money out by cutting tax rates and to pump more money in by increasing spending. The theory, at least, is that the two actions will give the economy a big nudge.

It also may give the Treasury a big deficit. And the debate over what that may mean to prices, wages, profits, savings and interest rates is setting businessmen against businessmen, just as it is economist against economist.

Industry replaces, on the average, 60 per cent of its profits into development and upkeep compared with 30 per cent 40 years ago.

Try and Stop Me

DR. LEE FAIRCHILD recalls the story of the village priest who told his congregation, "Next Sunday I propose to give a sermon about liars. I suggest that before then you all read Chapter 17 of St. Mark's."

Came the following Sunday, and the priest began, "Will all those who obliged me by reading Chapter 17 of St. Mark's please raise their hands." Every right hand in the congregation shot up.

Observed the priest, "There happens to be only 16 chapters in St. Mark's. I will now deliver my sermon on liars."

Who Cares about Chestnut Extract By George Sokolsky

Here is a law, duly passed by the House of Representatives and duly signed by the President and undoubtedly investigated by a Congressional Committee and by experts in various government departments. It reads:

"... That the Administrator of General Services is hereby authorized to dispose of, by negotiation or otherwise, approximately four thousand tons of chestnut extract now held in the national stockpile. Such disposition may be made without regard to the provisions of section 3 of the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act, relating to dispositions on the basis of a revised determination pursuant to Section 2 of said Act, to the effect that no such disposition shall be made until six months after publication in the Federal Register and transmission to the Congress and to the Armed Services Committees thereof of a notice of the proposed disposition."

In the first place why do we stockpile chestnut extract? I can understand stockpiling a few chestnuts to make sure that there is ample traditional stuffing for the turkey, but what is chestnut extract used for? Is it essential to any war we might get into? Maybe it is a dye to use on Fidel Castro's beard? But it is used for camouflage? But it must be important, for it is preserved under the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act, which means that it must either be used for war purposes or to feed our population in case of war or for some other good purpose. Meanwhile, the American taxpayer is paying to keep the thing stockpiled and I, as a taxpayer, am glad to see some of it come out.

I have just discovered, for my sins, that chestnut extract is a fluid extracted from the leaves of the chestnut tree and which, I am told, contains cocaine. Everyday, it is possible to learn something new about things like this, but why do we stockpile it, why do we release 4,000 tons of the extract? Who wants it?

Now, my point is that it took me considerable time, including an unanswered telephone call to a chemical company in Maywood, New Jersey, to find out what this substance is, who uses it, what is the value of it, and why anyone needs 4,000 tons of it with sufficient eagerness to have an Act of Congress passed.

Congress had no time to pass the Smathers Bill, purifying the State Department but it does have time to worry itself about chestnut extract. How many members of Congress have ever heard about chestnut extract? How many, having read this bill, took the trouble to discover whether it is used for tanning or drinking or for some other purpose?

If I were a member of Congress, I would never vote for a measure that I knew nothing about. But then why should I be asked to vote for a detail like chestnut extract? Congress should pass legislation laying down the ground rules, and expect them to be carried out by pertinent officials, of whom we have too many with nothing to do.

From First to Fourth

Simultaneous, but unrelated, warnings about the future of American merchant shipping have come from a government official concerned with United States commerce and chief corporate officer of one of the nation's large oil companies. Although directed to different audiences, and recited from a different point of view, the story each of these men had to tell was one of declining American shipping at a time when world commerce was reaching its most dynamic period in history.

Sen. John M. Butler, retiring member of the Senate Commerce Committee, predicted a gloomy future for American merchant shipping as he embarked on a study of ship-building in Britain and West Germany. The senator said that with less than 10 per cent of American foreign cargoes transported by ships under the Stars and Stripes, ship replacements are not keeping pace of current obsolescence.

A "crucial weapon" was the way James V. C. Malcolms, vice president of Texaco Inc., described the Soviet tanker fleet to a merchant marine industries post of the American Legion. The Russian fleet, while now only about 2 per cent of the world's tanker capacity, is the fastest growing and the youngest in terms of average ship age.

U. S. tankers have dropped from first place to fourth in number of vessels in the last five years. It is now the oldest fleet in the world, with at least half the ships dating back 15 years or more. It has the smallest cargo capacity per vessel of any fleet.

Ownership of the largest, strongest merchant fleet was once a requirement for military security. Today, it is a necessary tool in the emergence of economic warfare, both between enemies and among friends. North America has never known industrial and commercial competition on the scale that is now developing in Western Europe, Japan and to some extent, the Soviet empire.

When competition between nations and continents becomes really keen, the advantage will lie with the supplier possessing the most efficient means of transportation. The U. S. merchant fleet is not only inefficient by modern standards, it is steering toward total annihilation.

Seasonal Changes Have Majesty

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The change of any season has its landmarks of majesty:

They affect all things. Here are some ways you can tell when winter's here:

Frost confines the window, and little girls and boys decorate in its meadow their finger decisions of adventure: "I love Orville, but Ronald is a skunk."

The grass needs no cutting and is crisp underfoot. It gives a dry testimony of any trend in passing.

The big family question becomes, "Is the pond frozen over enough to skate on? The children say, "Yes." The parents say, "Well, if it stays below freezing one more day—then, well, maybe."

The advantages of using snow tires are widely presented in ads.

The old lady who has so much gossip about her neighbors hesitates to chance icy streets to inform her grocer.

The grocer decides the best way to get rid of his leftover prime sirloin is to make a bargain in hamburger.

There are three viewpoints about the weather: Winters are getting colder, winters are getting warmer, and the atomic bomb is responsible for the difference, good or bad.

Weather becomes increasingly the major topic of conversation, any man's authority is confirmed by the memory of what his grandfather had to say on the subject.

Learned discussions and arguments ensue. The observed breadth of a caterpillar's belly and the predictions of a rural almanac vie for significance. Each foretells the winter.

There are some ordinary manifestations of seasonal change that go on without much attention—such as the abatement of the bear's curious paw in hibernating sleep, the seek of silent hideaways by noisy insects, the death of vanished flowers that tempt the bee not now with hidden honey.

Across the frozen landscape littered by the brown reward of yesterday's spring leaves, the life that will not let go still lingers—the doe that steps with stilted grace, the rabbit whose nose is a mobile geography of his world of smell, and other small lives that make a tumult of their own amid the humus.

Yes, and you can also tell when winter is here when:

A son doesn't want to borrow a car because he'd have to shovel out two feet of snow in the driveway to make an exit.

If you live in an apartment, the heat doesn't come on until 6 a.m.

Yep, and down on the farm it's no trouble at all to tell when winter is here.

The animals stamp in their shelters and push wet muzzles to sniff the cold air outside. They have such grave sweet faces.

And, oh, the great fine smell of a barn in winter, the drying hay, the wonderful smell of huddled cattle enriching, by their being, the scent of next spring's tumult of clover.

By such separate testimonies, wherever he may be, one knows that winter is here.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Doing business today—or making a living—often planning for your or your children's future—increasingly involves you with your governments at their various levels.

In every corporation's and individual's calendar are three question marks: taxes, government spending, and the offspring of the two, Treasury deficits and borrowing.

In today's changing climate for management, labor and consumers, what the federal government does about these three might mean balmy days, or storms.

The complicated federal tax system determines much more of business thinking and planning than it did a generation back. The system affects many a firm's performance, as shown both in the profit and loss sheet and in the price curve of its shares on the stock market.

Rising state and local taxes also play a big role in business decisions and balance sheets. Often they determine where new plants are built, sometimes where old ones can hang on. Taxes influence the well-being of employees and their attitude to their present jobs and location.

The change that 1962 has pointed up in business prospects and in economic growth bolsters the plan to revise the old federal tax system. The administration says it will ask Congress to lower rates on both corporate and individual income levies, and to reform the system in general. This includes closing loopholes dear to the hearts of some industries, business executives and individuals.

Thus today, as business tries to adjust to new conditions governing profits, pricing and labor relations, it wonders what tax changes Congress may finally make, and their timing.

Some observers doubt that tax cuts in themselves will spur as much of an increase in consumer spending for goods, or business spending for new equipment, as the administration hopes. But most of those heard from say it will have a big, and perhaps deciding, effect in getting the economy moving faster next year.

Government spending plans are just as much on industry's mind as it adjusts to today's conditions. The power of the federal dollar, especially as reflected in the stock market, is shown by awarding a development contract for a radically new jet fighter to General Dynamics and Grumman Aircraft.

Changed overnight were the prospects for more jobs, as well as more profits.

Government spending pumps money into the economy; government taxation takes money out of it. Next year the plan is to take less money out by cutting tax rates and to pump more money in by increasing spending. The theory, at least, is that the two actions will give the economy a big nudge.

It also may give the Treasury a big deficit. And the debate over what that may mean to prices, wages, profits, savings and interest rates is setting businessmen against businessmen, just as it is economist against economist.

Industry replaces, on the average, 60 per cent of its profits into development and upkeep compared with 30 per cent 40 years ago.

DR. LEE FAIRCHILD recalls the story of the village priest who told his congregation, "Next Sunday I propose to give a sermon about liars. I suggest that before then all read Chapter 17 of St. Mark's."

Came the following Sunday, and the priest began, "Will all those who obliged me by reading Chapter 17 of St. Mark's please raise their hands." Every right hand in the congregation shot up.

Observed the priest, "There happens to be only 16 chapters in St. Mark's. I will now deliver my sermon on liars."

Who Cares about Chestnut Extract By George Sokolsky

In the first place why do we stockpile chestnut extract? I can understand stockpiling a few chestnuts to make sure that there is ample traditional stuffing for the turkey, but what is chestnut extract used for? Is it essential to any war we might get into? Maybe it is a dye to use on Fidel Castro's beard? Maybe it is used for camouflage? Meanwhile, the American taxpayer is paying to keep the thing stockpiled and I, as a taxpayer, am glad to see some of it come out.

Everyday, it is possible to learn something new about things like this, but why do we stockpile it, why do we release 4,000 tons of the extract? Who wants it?

Now, my point is that it took me considerable time, including an unanswered telephone call to a chemical company in Maywood, New Jersey, to find out what this substance is, who uses it, what is the value of it, and why anyone needs 4,000 tons of it with sufficient eagerness to have an Act of Congress passed.

How many, having read this bill, took the trouble to discover whether it is used for tanning or drinking or for some other purpose?

If I were a member of Congress, I would never vote for a measure that I knew nothing about. But then why should I be asked to vote for a detail like chestnut extract? Congress should pass legislation laying down the ground rules, and expect them to be carried out by pertinent officials, of whom we have too many with nothing to do.

Congress should keep a watch-dog eye on these public officials who usually cover their incompetence, as well as malfeasance, by claiming the Executive Privilege, which like the separation of church and State argument, is used for a multitude of irrelevant reasons.

I call attention to these petty bills because it ought to be one of the functions of each member of Congress to spend plenty of time among their own citizenry so that they might be truly representative. A vacation from Congress between just before Thanksgiving to just after New Year's Day is not sufficient for any man to know about his own constituents, their needs and wants. For instance, New Jersey contains an important center for pharmaceutical and small chemical industries. Many of the achievements of the New Jersey companies are being stolen by agents of Italian competitors. This has been duly investigated and brought into the courts.

How many members of Congress, voting on tariff bills or on measures related to GATT or to any of our foreign relations, know about this Italian thievery which costs American firms millions of dollars and deprives American workers of work? How many of them have done anything about this form of commercial piracy?

In a word, there are important tasks for Congress and it should not be involved in trivial legislation.

Dear Abby: It Depends on the Definition!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I graduated from business school a month ago and have been looking for an office job ever since. I am turned down everywhere because I am too good-looking! I am told they are afraid the men will spend more time at my desk than at their own. I am flattered to hear this, but do you think it is fair that I should be turned down because I am not ugly? I have to support myself. What do you suggest?

TOO BEAUTIFUL
DEAR TOO: Take a good look at yourself. Are you "beautiful" or just provocative, distracting and perhaps a little too come-hither-ish? A well-groomed, refined-looking beauty should have no difficulty landing a job.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old. I had my eyes checked last year and the doctor said I was nearsighted but I didn't need glasses yet. Yesterday I couldn't read what was on the blackboard and it was only eight feet away. Everything looked like one big blob. The girl who sits across from me let me use her glasses and, Abby, it was wonderful. Everything was plain again. I told my mother this and she said, "Don't bother me — you are always wanting something!" How can I convince my mother I really need glasses?

CAN'T SEE
DEAR CAN'T: Mothers sometimes develop an immunity to their children's requests. Perhaps if your teacher called your mother and told her you should have your eyes checked again, she'd listen.

DEAR ABBY: We have some neighbors with whom we are fairly friendly. They have two children. One is married and is living away from home, and the other is in a mental institution. When we meet I always inquire about BOTH children. My husband says I should not ask about the one in the mental institution as I KNOW he is mentally ill. I am inquiring as to his PHYSICAL condition, which I think is only right. Would it be better not to mention the one in the institution at all? Our neighbors speak of the one in the mental institution as though he were in an ordinary hospital and they don't seem a bit embarrassed by my question.

NO MALICE
DEAR NO: Inquire about both children. In this enlightened age one does not pretend that a person who is in a mental institution is not among the living.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GLEN-OLDEN: The quickest way I know of losing a friend is to tell her something "for her own good."

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

MASON JARRED — Pamela Mason talks animatedly to reporters outside courtroom in Santa Monica, Calif., where she is suing Academy Award winning husband James Mason for divorce. James himself looks a bit jarred as he talks to his attorney, Jake Ehrlich.

Old-fashioned flavor: black walnuts added to taffy or caramels.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After a week of turkey sandwiches, creamed turkey and turkey hash, most housewives—and their families—may well feel like eating beef this weekend.

Apparently with this thought in mind, many stores over the nation are holding sales that feature both steaks and roasts, as the flow of meat continues from ranchers trimming their herds against winter carryover.

One national chain features rib roasts at 69 cents a pound in its New York outlet, with chuck roasts pegged at 69 cents and bottom round at 89.

Southeastern markets feature chuck roasts, short ribs, rib steaks and cube steaks.

Midwest markets are strong on chuck roasts. Western and Southwestern stores offer a wide variety of beef buys.

Pork is also widely featured, with loin roasts and chops the most frequent bargain item.

Broiler-fryers continue economically priced and several fish and seafood items are prices unusually low.

Dairy foods continue in good supply.

Among vegetables, best choices nationally include squash, potatoes, broccoli, cabbage, onions and various lettuce forms.

Regionally, other features include Texas snap green beans, brussels sprouts, eggplant, leeks, mushrooms, turnip greens, rutabagas, spinach and cauliflower.

The best fruit attractions are again apples, grapes, oranges and cranberries, but regional bargains will also be found in avocados, dried figs and dates, grapefruit, tangerines and pomegranates.

A favorite topping for cheese cake blends a cup of commercial sour cream with a couple of tablespoons of sugar and a little vanilla; the mixture goes on top of the baked cake and then cake and topping usually get about ten minutes moderate oven heat treatment. The topping freezes as well as does cheese cake.

If you want to shave Brazil nuts for a garnish, heat the nuts slowly in water to cover and simmer then for several minutes. Use a swivel-blade vegetable parer for shaving the nuts.

Miss Caplinger, Mr. Burns, Are Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oakes, Ashville, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Linda Karen Caplinger, to Mr. George B. Burns, son of Mrs. Hazel Burns, Ashville, and the late Mr. George Burns.

Miss Caplinger is a 1961 graduate of Ashville-Harrison High School and is presently employed by the Hartzler Mortgage Co., Columbus.

Mr. Burns attended the Ashville-Harrison High School and served in the U. S. Marine Corps. He is now employed by the C. F. Repligle Co., Circleville.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old. I had my eyes checked last year and the doctor said I was nearsighted but I didn't need glasses yet. Yesterday I couldn't read what was on the blackboard and it was only eight feet away. Everything looked like one big blob. The girl who sits across from me let me use her glasses and, Abby, it was wonderful. I told my mother this and she said, "Don't bother me — you are always wanting something!" How can I convince my mother I really need glasses?

CAN'T SEE
DEAR CAN'T: Mothers sometimes develop an immunity to their children's requests. Perhaps if your teacher called your mother and told her you should have your eyes checked again, she'd listen.

DEAR ABBY: We have some neighbors with whom we are fairly friendly. They have two children. One is married and is living away from home, and the other is in a mental institution. When we meet I always inquire about BOTH children. My husband says I should not ask about the one in the mental institution as I KNOW he is mentally ill. I am inquiring as to his PHYSICAL condition, which I think is only right. Would it be better not to mention the one in the institution at all? Our neighbors speak of the one in the mental institution as though he were in an ordinary hospital and they don't seem a bit embarrassed by my question.

NO MALICE
DEAR NO: Inquire about both children. In this enlightened age one does not pretend that a person who is in a mental institution is not among the living.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GLEN-OLDEN: The quickest way I know of losing a friend is to tell her something "for her own good."

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After a week of turkey sandwiches, creamed turkey and turkey hash, most housewives—and their families—may well feel like eating beef this weekend.

Apparently with this thought in mind, many stores over the nation are holding sales that feature both steaks and roasts, as the flow of meat continues from ranchers trimming their herds against winter carryover.

One national chain features rib roasts at 69 cents a pound in its New York outlet, with chuck roasts pegged at 69 cents and bottom round at 89.

Southeastern markets feature chuck roasts, short ribs, rib steaks and cube steaks.

Midwest markets are strong on chuck roasts. Western and Southwestern stores offer a wide variety of beef buys.

Pork is also widely featured, with loin roasts and chops the most frequent bargain item.

Broiler-fryers continue economically priced and several fish and seafood items are prices unusually low.

Dairy foods continue in good supply.

Among vegetables, best choices nationally include squash, potatoes, broccoli, cabbage, onions and various lettuce forms.

Regionally, other features include Texas snap green beans, brussel sprouts, eggplant, leeks, mushrooms, turnip greens, rutabagas, spinach and cauliflower.

The best fruit attractions are again apples, grapes, oranges and cranberries, but regional bargains will also be found in avocados, dried figs and dates, grapefruit, tangerines and pomegranates.

A favorite topping for cheese cake blends a cup of commercial sour cream with a couple of tablespoons of sugar and a little vanilla; the mixture goes on top of the baked cake and then cake and topping usually get about ten minutes moderate oven heat treatment. The topping freezes as well as does cheese cake.

If you want to shave Brazil nuts for a garnish, heat the nuts slowly in water to cover and simmer them for several minutes. Use a swivel-blade vegetable parer for shaving the nuts.

Winnie Planning Quiet Birthday

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill will celebrate his 88th birthday Friday probably more quietly than any anniversary of his long public life.

As his years upon this earth have lengthened, each birthday anniversary has generated a swelling flood of presents and greetings from well-wishers all over the world.

Thousands come in from people he doesn't know—people who've never seen him but who look on him as the living image of an incomparable fighter.

Over the last 10 years by special messengers, squads of telegraph boys and postoffice trucks—presents and greetings have poured into his London home.

Friday is expected to bring another avalanche of greetings but Churchill plans a quiet day.

"He will see only his family and very close friends," said his private secretary, Anthony Montague Browne.

Asked if Sir Winston would make his traditional birthday visit to the House of Commons, Browne replied:

"No, I'm afraid not."

He is far from senile, but he walks with considerable effort, it is said.

On a bad day, his mind often isn't clear.

On good days, it's splendidly lucid.

One of his close friends — a former military man—visited him recently and later confided to friends:

"It's all very sad. He could remember almost everything about World War I but very little about much toward winning."

Yet on other recent occasions—when he was enjoying a good day—he not only discussed World War II but the present state of the world as well with clarity and wisdom.

A birthday dinner is planned for Friday, but it'll be a small one. Mme. Maria Floris, who for 21 successive years has baked a cake for Sir Winston, will do it again.

A professional baker, she plans a light fruit cake.

Her cakes are usually saturated with brandy—one of Sir Winston's favorite drinks.

At 88, he's still the unpredictable Churchill.

In 1960 and this year, he suffered serious falls.

With each mishap, he broke a bone.

When people all but gave up hope for him, he made great rallies, rose from his injuries and got well.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A large, dry air mass covering the northeastern fourth of the nation continued to dominate Ohio's weather during the night, giving mostly clear skies and cool temperatures to all sections.

At daybreak today, Toledo reported the coolest temperature with 24 degrees. Elsewhere readings were in the 30s. Cincinnati 38 and Youngstown 34.

With the large, dry high pressure area centered over New England and forecast to remain stationary during the next 24 hours, little change is foreseen in Ohio's weather. Mostly fair, dry and unseasonably mild weather will continue through Friday.

Temperatures today and Friday will be around 60, with readings early Friday morning mostly in the 30s.

Pay Phone Theft Reported by Man

CLEVELAND (AP) — An Indianapolis man has told police he has stolen about $20,000 from pay telephones in three states in the last 18 months.

William M. Rice, 52, was arrested at a roadblock in suburban Parma Wednesday after patrolman Robert W. Bennett noticed the license number on Rice's car was the same as that of a man who was seen dumping empty coin boxes here last September.

Rice said he had operated in Milwaukee, Toledo, Youngstown, Akron, Cleveland and Columbus in Ohio, and in Buffalo, N. Y. He said he stole a pay telephone the spring of 1961, took it home and after some study developed a pick that would open the coin box.

Union Officer Killed In Highway Collision

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—One Teamsters Union officer was killed and another suffered minor injuries Wednesday night in a traffic crash on U.S. 40 four miles west of here. A third man was hurt more seriously.

William J. Kolonetz, 33, of Zanesville, business agent for Teamsters Union Local 637, with headquarters in Zanesville, was dead on arrival at a hospital. His companion, Lewis F. Jones, 57, of Zanesville, secretary-treasurer of the local, was treated in Good Samaritan Hospital and released. Their automobile was involved in a collision with a pickup truck driven by Robert A. Merry, 35, of Zanesville, who suffered shoulder and head injuries.

Executive Hopes Investment Will Improve Movie Industry

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The boss of the show business giant many expect to grow into a colossus operates from an office no bigger than the bedroom of a housing-trait home.

He sits behind a small desk with a view of a studio wall and a parking space. His name does not appear on the office door, but it is known and respected by show people everywhere — Lew Wasserman.

Tall, gentle-spoken and dressed in eternal black, Wasserman is the president of MCA, once the commanding leader of the agency business.

Now, with an assist from the Justice Department, MCA has shed its agency wing for bigger game. It has fashioned a combine that includes: Universal Pictures, highly successful producer of feature films; Revue Productions, leading maker of television films; Decca Records, long important in the recording industry.

As head man of the entire operation, Wasserman explained his duties: "I'm a paper-pusher."

When I remarked that his desk was devoid of paper, he replied: "Oh, I've already pushed all the papers."

It was 9 a.m. and he was well into his work day.

Pausing for a rare interview, Wasserman expressed his faith in the movie business.

"History has shown that entertainment mediums go through tough periods when a new medium is introduced. When the movies became popular, many people said it was the end of live entertainment. But it has survived."

"Radio was supposed to have killed the record business, but it is doing better than ever. Television looked like the death of radio. But the radio stations have gone through a change of operation, and I saw recently that two local stations sold for more than $10 million apiece."

"The movie business has been adjusting to the changes that were brought by the challenge of television. We have had to change our methods of production and of exhibition."

Wasserman foresees the movie industry catching up with population growth, which it has lagged behind in postwar years. He also figures Hollywood to maintain its historical position as world film leader.

"Foreign competition in movies is no different from that faced by any other American industry," he remarked.

"The base of our operation will be right here at the studio," he said. "It is much easier to control costs here. It's not merely the production costs that can get out of hand overseas; it's the per diem. When you take a hundred people to a location and have to pay expenses of $50 to $75 a day, seven days a week, for each of them, it can kill you."

"I believe in the big-studio operation. We've already spent $10 million to improve this lot and will spend $15 million more. That's a $25-million investment that the big studio will last. It had better."

U.S. Defectors Reported Living In North Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The senior North Korean member of the military armistice commission said today two U.S. Army defectors to North Korea "are living happily in our country."

Maj. Gen. Chang Chung-Hwan was referring to Pvt. Larry Abshier, 18, of Garfield Heights, Ohio, and PFC. James J. Dresnok of Glen Allen, Va. Abshier defected on May 28 and Dresnok on Aug. 15.

The Communist delegate made the remark during a discussion in the armistice commission of a United Nations command charge that Communist soldiers raided a U.N. command observation post Nov. 20, killing one American soldier and wounding another. Chang said the two defectors had left their units because they were "disgruntled" by what he called warlike policies of the United States and mistreatment of South Koreans by U.S. servicemen.

Texas Solon Ready, Willing To Head Banking Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic congressman who believes too many banks are lying down on their job and the Federal Reserve System is getting out of hand will become chairman of the House Banking Committee in January.

Rep. Wright Patman will be achieving, at 69, an ambition burning since he first came to Congress in 1929 from an East Texas farm district: to head the committee that can dig into the operations of lending institutions, the Federal Reserve System and the currency, as well as draft legislation affecting them.

Patman brought to Washington with him a reputation as an economic maverick. His efforts to win a place on the committee were rebuffed for eight years—a severe setback in the seniority-bound House.

"I wasn't orthodox enough," Patman says without rancor today. "Otherwise, I would have been chairman of this committee 18 years earlier."

The retirement from Congress this year of Chairman Brent Spence, D-Ky., who at 87 was the oldest member of the House, finally cleared the way for Patman.

Owlsh behind his dark-rimmed glasses, Patman smiles readily at witnesses or reporters. But he somehow gives the impression of a fox professor of economics who likes to ask stumping questions.

His basic quarrel with the Federal Reserve System derives from his conviction that, as it now operates, private bankers have too much say and the Treasury not enough say in shaping policies that determine the national supply of money and credit.

His contention that recent policies of "the Fed" have been unduly tight has produced a running controversy with Federal Reserve Chairman William M. Martin Jr. It is enthusiastically renewed whenever Martin appears before one of the committees on which Patman serves. While waiting for the main chance, Patman has advanced to the chairmanship of the House Small Business Committee and the Joint Senate-House Economic Committee.

As for banks in general, Patman says greed and an obsession with playing it safe have distorted the roles of too many of them. "Bankers are the only people who can manufacture money without going to the penitentiary."

They are supposed to use this money to take care of the credit needs of their communities—make loans to business men, farmers, individuals on fair terms, not invest it in tax-free municipal bonds.

"I am on the side of the small banks, the medium-size banks and all other banks who are not pursuing a greedy policy."

"I am against those who would have a nation of only a few banks with branches, and those who think a few select people should have a franchise on the economy."

U.S. Recon Pilots Observe Red Planes in Air over Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U.S. pilots who flew surveillance missions over Cuba say they were joined in the skies by Red fighter planes but were not attacked.

They made their statements Wednesday as 25 medals were presented by high ranking Air Force and Navy officers to pilots who flew over Cuba on reconnaissance missions. Eleven more medals are to be presented.

Lt. Col. Clyde B. East, commanding officer of the 29th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron, said at Tampa, Fla., that he had spotted three types of Soviet MIG jet fighters while over Cuba.

He said one type—the MIG 21—

was faster than his RF101 Voodoo reconnaissance plane, rated at more than 1,000 miles an hour. The Soviet planes, he said, "never fired on us, they just heightened it."

East, 41, a native of Chatham, Va., who received his fourth Distinguished Flying Cross Wednesday, also said U.S. planes were fired on from the ground but "no one was hit or hurt."

In Omaha, Neb., Air Force Maj. Richard S. Heyser said he had seen Cuban planes on several occasions. Asked if they tried to intercept him, he hesitated then replied, "Not that I was aware of."

Heyser wouldn't say what kind of plane he was piloting, but he did remark that he flew so high he wasn't worried about anti-aircraft fire.

Heyser, 35, is a member of the 4080th Strategic Wing of Laughlin Air Force Base, a Strategic Air Command unit which defense officials previously have said includes high flying U2 aircraft. These planes have an estimated altitude of 70,000 feet or more.

Heyser said U.S. pilots were briefed on what to look for and "fortunately we found it."

As for banks in general, Patman says greed and an obsession with playing it safe have distorted the roles of too many of them.

"Bankers are the only people who can manufacture money without going to the penitentiary."

They are supposed to use this money to take care of the credit needs of their communities—make loans to business men, farmers, individuals on fair terms not invest it in tax-free municipal bonds.

"I am on the side of the small banks, the medium-size banks and all other banks who are not pursuing a greedy policy."

"I am against those who would have a nation of only a few banks with branches, and those who think a few select people should have a franchise on the economy."

U.S. Recon Pilots Observe Red Planes in Air over Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U.S. pilots who flew surveillance missions over Cuba say they were joined in the skies by Red fighter planes but were not attacked.

They made their statements Wednesday as 25 medals were presented by high ranking Air Force and Navy officers to pilots who flew over Cuba on reconnaissance missions. Eleven more medals are to be presented.

Lt. Col. Clyde B. East, commanding officer of the 29th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron, said at Tampa, Fla., that he had spotted three types of Soviet MIG jet fighters while over Cuba.

He said one type—the MIG 21—

was faster than his RF101 Voodoo reconnaissance plane, rated at more than 1,000 miles an hour. The Soviet planes, he said, "never fired on us, they just hightailed it."

East, 41, a native of Chatham, Va., who received his fourth Distinguished Flying Cross Wednesday, also said U.S. planes were fired on from the ground but "no one was hit or hurt."

In Omaha, Neb., Air Force Maj. Richard S. Heyser said he had seen Cuban planes on several occasions. Asked if they tried to intercept him, he hesitated then replied, "Not that I was aware of."

Heyser wouldn't say what kind of plane he was piloting, but he did remark that he flew so high he wasn't worried about anti-aircraft fire.

Heyser, 35, is a member of the 4080th Strategic Wing of Laughlin Air Force Base, a Strategic Air Command unit which defense officials previously have said includes high flying U2 aircraft. These planes have an estimated altitude of 70,000 feet or more.

Heyser said U.S. pilots were briefed on what to look for and "fortunately we found it."

New System Unveiled for Mail Sorting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day unveiled today a new code system for mail sorting which he said could speed delivery of out-of-town mail by as much as 24 hours.

The post office dubbed the new system "Zip Code," for Zone Improvement Plan, and produced a cartoon character postman named Mr. Zip to help publicize it.

Day, speaking to electronic data processing experts of the electric and gas industries, said the new system will be ready for full operation by next July 1.

He said the effectiveness of the zip plan will depend on the cooperation of large mail users. He noted that half of all U.S. mail is generated by just 25,000 large mail users, and that public utilities alone send out over two billion pieces of mail a year.

The system depends on a code number for each piece of mail. The first digit would indicate one of ten sections of the country, the second digit a part of a state, and the third digit a major sectional mail center.

The last two digits would route the mail directly to a smaller post office served by the sectional center, a city mail zone, or even a office building that receives large volumes of mail.

State Is Major Participant In Italy's Mixed Economy

ROME (AP) — The citizen's breakfast included fruit marketed by the state. As he ate, he glanced through his morning newspaper, owned by a state firm.

He dressed in a suit made of cloth from a state-owned mill.

The car he drove to work was constructed in a state plant.

At the office, he used a telephone provided by a state company. He lit a state cigarette with a state match.

On his way home, he purchased gasoline at a state-owned filling station, had a drink at a state bar and dined in a state restaurant.

At home, he switched on lights using state power. He took ice from a refrigerator built by a state company. Then he settled down to watch television — with only two state-operated channels to choose from.

Next day he left on a business trip, planned by a state-controlled tourist agency. He traveled on state-owned trains, planes and ships, and stayed at a state hotel.

He was an Italian, living in "capitalist" Italy today.

He was not confined to using only state products. In some cases he could have turned to services and goods provided by private firms. But his choice demonstrated that Italy — more than any other Western country — has a mixed economy in which the state is actively participating in almost every phase of industrial and business activity.

Now the state is taking over another field—electric power. A bill nationalizing power is in the last stages of parliamentary consideration.

Things Happen Quick Around Jeffersonville

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Folks around nearby Jeffersonville had quite a bit to talk about today besides the usual banter about the crops, the weather and the Miami Trace High School basketball team.

A school bus carrying 23 pupils overturned Wednesday, and three hours later Homer Miller's house was destroyed by an explosion. Four students and Miller's wife were injured, none badly.

The brakes failed on the bus Mrs. Mary McDonald, 45, was driving, and it toppled onto its side in a ditch off Ohio 41 a mile south of Jeffersonville.

Bottled propane gas leaked in Miller's basement and blew up when ignited by sparks from a water pump, said Sheriff Don Thompson. Damage was estimated at $10,000 to the 8-room house four miles south of Jeffersonville. Miller, who works for the Washington Court House Record-Herald, escaped injury in the blast which occurred while he was viewing television. The only other occupant, his wife, suffered minor burns.

Charges Filed Against Union Boss by IRS

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Indictments on charges of tampering with confidential Internal Revenue Service files have been returned by a federal grand jury against Richard T. Gosser, international vice president of the United Auto Workers Union, and two other men.

Named with Gosser in the indictments were his administrative assistant, Donald Pinciotti, and Ted Maison, described by a U.S. attorney as a well-known numbers racket figure.

The grand jury returned the indictments Wednesday after three days of hearings.

An IRS secretary was named as co-conspirator in the 5-page document but was not indicted.

The government alleges that the secretary, Mrs. Patricia Niedowski, made available documents from IRS files concerning an investigation into Gosser's income tax returns. The IRS has been investigating the 61-year-old labor leader's tax returns for the years 1956 to 1958.

The three are free on bond—$2,500 for Maison and $1,000 each for the other two. The charges carry a possible penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Arraignment was scheduled for Dec. 7 before U. S. District Court Judge Frank L. Klob.

Vastly Improved Hearing Aid May Be Available in 2 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An electronic ear, no larger than today's hard-of-hearing aids but capable of bringing sound to many who are totally deaf, may be available within two years.

The surgically implanted device was described at a meeting Tuesday of the American Medical Association by Dr. John B. Doyle Jr. of Los Angeles, the inventor.

Experimental models, weighing two ounces and measuring 1-by-1½-by-½ inches, have been imbedded in the skulls of two patients.

With further research, Dr. Doyle says, the units can be made small enough to be implanted in the ear.

"Today's hearings aid merely opening.

"The new unit is designed to help those who cannot hear any sound at all, no matter how greatly amplified, because their mechanism for converting air vibrations into sound has been lost through accident or illness." In normal ears, this mechanism is the cochlea, a fluid-filled, spiral-shaped organ deep in the head. Sound waves make the ear drum vibrate, activating tiny bones which jiggle the cochlea and set up waves in its fluid. These waves in turn wash over hair-like endings of the auditory nerve leading from the cochlea to the brain.

The new device consists of two tiny induction coils. One is imbedded in the head, with wires running to the cochlea. The other coil, worn externally, generates a magnetic field which acts upon the imbedded coil.

One is a transmitter, the other a receiver.

Next day he left on a business trip, planned by a state-controlled tourist agency. He traveled on state-owned trains, planes and ships, and stayed at a state hotel.

He was an Italian, living in "capitalist" Italy today.

He was not confined to using only state products. In some cases he could have turned to services and goods provided by private firms. But his choice demonstrated that Italy — more than any other Western country — has a mixed economy in which the state is actively participating in almost every phase of industrial and business activity.

Now the state is taking over another field — electric power. A bill nationalizing power is in the last stages of parliamentary consideration.

About 25 per cent of Italy's electrical output already is produced by state-controlled companies. Nationalization consolidates these companies and private industries under a single state agency.

Charges Filed Against Union Boss by IRS

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Indictments on charges of tampering with confidential Internal Revenue Service files have been returned by a federal grand jury against Richard T. Gosser, international vice president of the United Auto Workers Union, and two other men.

Named with Gosser in the indictments were his administrative assistant, Donald Pinciotti, and Ted Maisson, described by a U.S. attorney as a well-known numbers racket figure.

The grand jury returned the indictments Wednesday after three days of hearings.

An IRS secretary was named as co-conspirator in the 5-page document but was not indicted.

The government alleges that the secretary, Mrs. Patricia Niedomski, made available documents from IRS files concerning an investigation into Gosser's income tax returns. The IRS has been investigating the 61-year-old labor leader's tax returns for the years 1956 to 1958.

The three are free on bond—$2,500 for Maisson and $1,000 each for the other two. The charges carry a possible penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Arraignment was scheduled for Dec. 7 before U. S. District Court Judge Frank L. Kloebe.

Things Happen Quick Around Jeffersonville

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Folks around nearby Jeffersonville had quite a bit to talk about today besides the usual banter about the crops, the weather and the Miami Trace High School basketball team.

A school bus carrying 23 pupils overturned Wednesday, and three hours later Homer Miller's house was destroyed by an explosion. Four students and Miller's wife were injured, none badly.

The brakes failed on the bus Mrs. Mary McDonald, 45, was driving, and it toppled onto its side in a ditch off Ohio 41 a mile south of Jeffersonville.

Bottled propane gas leaked in Miller's basement and blew up when ignited by sparks from a water pump, said Sheriff Don Thompson. Damage was estimated at $10,000 to the 8-room house four miles south of Jeffersonville. Miller, who works for the Washington Court House Record-Herald, escaped injury in the blast which occurred while he was viewing television. The only other occupant, his wife, suffered minor burns.

Vastly Improved Hearing Aid May Be Available in 2 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An electronic ear, no larger than today's hard-of-hearing aids but capable of bringing sound to many who are totally deaf, may be available within two years.

The surgically implanted device was described at a meeting Tuesday of the American Medical Association by Dr. John B. Doyle Jr. of Los Angeles, the inventor.

Experimental models, weighing two ounces and measuring 1-by-1½-by-½ inches, have been imbedded in the skulls of two patients.

With further research, Dr. Doyle says, the units can be made small enough to be implanted in the ear amplifying sound," said Dr. Doyle.

"Today's hearings aid merely opens."

In normal ears, this mechanism is the cochlea, a fluid-filled, spiral-shaped organ deep in the head. Sound waves make the ear drum vibrate, activating tiny bones which jiggle the cochlea and set up waves in its fluid. These waves in turn wash over hair-like endings of the auditory nerve leading from the cochlea to the brain.

The new device consists of two tiny induction coils. One is imbedded in the head, with wires running to the cochlea. The other coil, worn externally, generates a magnetic field which acts upon the imbedded coil.

One is a transmitter, the other a receiver.

"Today's hearings aid merely opens."

The new unit is designed to help those who cannot hear any sound at all, no matter how greatly amplified, because their mechanism for converting air vibrations into sound has been lost through accident or illness."

Bow-and-Arrow Hunting Now Paying Dividends in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bow-and-arrow hunting, gaining in popularity in Ohio in recent years, is beginning to show some results in the field. Archers have taken 18 deer to date in the 5-week-old archery deer hunting season. From Erie County comes report of one unusual event of Nov. 19. There Willie H. and Betty J. and wife bow hunting team, each killed an 8-point buck on the same day. The husband's buck was the larger. With those two deer, the total taken in Erie County this season now is five—by far the largest kill reported for any single county. Spring Valley Lake in Warren and Green counties is still yielding good-sized bluegills despite the cold weather, and anglers can be found there even on some of the coldest, blustery days. High-quality bluegill fishing also is being enjoyed at Indian Lake in Logan County where anglers are using waxworms fished on a fly. Crappie fishing is also good there. Hunters around Grand Lake St. Marys have taken about 200 Canada geese thus far this year. That's always one of the top goose shooting spots in the state. Geese mated at between 1,500 and 2,000, most of them Canada honkers but some blue and snow geese. The Ohio Division of Parks reports that nearly 1-1/2 million people visited Ohio's most popular state park, East Harbor, between April and October this year. Of the total, 604,000 were swimmers, 392,000 visitors, 273,000 tent and trailer campers and 60,000 fishermen.

Minors Hit Early Snag

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The new deal for the baseball minor leagues hit a snag before the rules were written into the book. The harried minors were having serious internal troubles, unable to solve their own realignment problem at the class tripartite level.

The unfortunate American Association, caught in the middle between the International League and the Pacific Coast League, was fighting what seemed to be a losing battle to escape extinction. The International League rejected the Association's proposals to merge into either a 10 or 12 club league. The International turned down both proposals by a 6-2 vote with Columbus and Toronto reportedly voting in favor. The Pacific Coast League had seven solid clubs and was anxious to take in Denver from the AA as its eighth member. Vancouver, which was the eighth club in the coast league last year, had lost its working agreement. The American Association has only five clubs, including Denver, an unwilling partner. One of the proposals rejected Wednesday would have moved Little Rock, Indianapolis, Dallas-Fort Worth and Oklahoma City into the International. Another would have put Indianapolis and Little Rock into the International and Dallas-Fort Worth, Oklahoma City and Denver into the coast league. When the International turned down both proposals, it was suggested that the Pacific Coast should become a six-team league by giving up Salt Lake City to the Association which then would have six teams. The International would remain intact with eight. However, this was not acceptable to the coast league. The minors' meeting broke up late at night and the leagues were to meet again today in an effort to reach a satisfactory solution. The convention will end today and the scenery will shift to New York where the majors will meet Friday and Saturday.

Maz Is Sole Survivor of 1960 Pirates

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Second baseman Bill Mazeroski became the sole infield survivor of the Pittsburgh world championship team of 1960 today following the trade of third baseman Don Hoak on the heels of the departure of first baseman Dick Stuart and shortstop Dick Groat.

The Pirates Wednesday night shipped Hoak, 34, to the Philadelphia Phillies for outfielder Ted Savage and first baseman Pancho Herrera, who was assigned to the Pirates' Columbus farm club in the International League.

Thus, within a space of 10 days, the Pirates acquired five players, all of whom figure prominently in Manager Danny Murtaugh's plans for 1963. Besides Savage, the Pittsburgh newcomers included right-handed pitchers Don Schwall and Don Cardwell, catcher Jim Pagliaroni, and infielder Julio Gotay.

"We feel we have improved our club a great deal," said Pittsburgh General Manager Joe Brown. "I'm not saying these deals will bring us the pennant but we finished eight games behind first last season. Draw your own conclusions."

Philadelphia's Gene Mauch predicted the acquisition of Hoak would end the Phillies' third base problem.

Hoak dropped off 57 points to 241 in 121 games last season. He was the acknowledged leader of the Pirate infield for four years following his acquisition from the Cincinnati Reds.

Murtaugh said he planned to give Savage, 25, a right-handed hitter who batted .266 in 127 games last year a chance to break into the outfield, now comprised of Bob Skinner in left, Bill Virdon in center and Roberto Clemente in right.

Murtaugh plans to give Bob Bailey, 20, the Pirates' rookie flash who received a record $175,000 bonus two years ago, a shot at third base. The rest of the infield will be comprised of Donn Clendenon, at first base; Mazeroski at second and Dick Schofield at shortstop.

West Palm Beach Open Ready To Go

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A glittering field of more than 50 tees off today in the 72-hole $20,000 West Palm Beach Open Golf Tournament.

The presence of Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open winner; Bo Wininger, who captured last week's Orlando Open, Doug Sanders, Dow Finsterwald and other top pros confounded pre-tournament efforts to pick a favorite.

Nicklaus thrilled a pro-amateur tourney gallery Wednesday with putts of 20 and 25 feet but settled for 70 on the 6,800-yard par 36-3—72 West Palm Beach Country Club layout.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Dan Devine will retain his post as coach of the West team in the East-West Shrine football game at San Francisco Dec. 29, although he offered to step down because his Missouri team plays in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston just a week earlier.

Toledo Grid Mentor Named Ohio Class AA Coach of Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tom McHugh of Toledo Central Catholic's state champions today was named Ohio's Class AA high school coach of the year in the annual Associated Press poll.

The Class A honors went to John Santillo of Lowellville (Mahoning County) who has led his Rockets to four unbeaten seasons in a row.

McHugh, 30-year-old Notre Dame graduate who was known as "Touchdown Tommy" when he graduated at Central Catholic a dozen years ago, succeeds Midletown's Glenn (Tiger) Ellison as the No. 1 Class AA mentor. Santillo succeeds Ken Herman of Fostoria St. Wendelin.

In seven years at the Central Catholic helm, McHugh has compiled a 50-16-3 record culminated by 10 straight this season for the state title and the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy. He took over the head coaching job in 1956 after a year as coach of the light-weight contingent.

McHugh is married to his high school sweetheart and has two children, Kathleen 3, and Kevin 1. He played in the North-South all-star game, and spent a year with Toronto in the Canadian league where a back injury forced his retirement.

Santillo, also 30, is a graduate of Youngstown East High and Mississippi State. He took over the Lowellville berth in 1956 after the Rockets had a six-year record of 10-36-2 and was considering giving up football. In his six seasons—after a couple of lean ones at the start—he has compiled a 35-13-2 mark.

Warren's Ben Wilson finished second in the Class AA balloting by sports writers, coaches and officials. Ellison, with the flashiest offense in the state, was third, and Bob Lewis of Wyoming—whose team shut out 10 straight foes this year—was fourth.

Others high in the double-A race were Carl Benhase of unbeaten Circleville; Earl Bruce of Sandusky, John Writz of Cleveland St. Ignatus, Jerry Wampfler of Lancaster, Gaylord (Hap) Lillick of Louisville, Joe Lukac of Port Clinton, Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon, Charles Buckenmeyer of Napoleon, Denny Barrett of Youngstown Mooney, and Tony Mason of Niles McKinley's 1961 state champs. Bob Irvin of Norwalk St. Paul was runner-up to Santillo, followed by Don Carico of Malvern, Gene Keel of West Jefferson, Bob Hiel of Piqua Catholic, Gene Coleman of Smithville, Wade Watts of Fairfield Union, Bill Frazier of Bellville, Joe Rich of Mineral Ridge, and Dick Thurnes of Tiltonsville.

Ohio's high school coaching association will select the North-South all-star squads and coaches, for next August's game at Canton, at a meeting here the weekend of Dec. 7-8.

But in a statewide sentiment-seeking vote, conducted in connection with The Associated Press selections, McHugh was an odds-on choice to pilot the Yankees and Ellison ran away with the southern voting. Wilson of Warren and Bruce of Sandusky were close to McHugh in the north, while Benhase of Circleville and Lewis of Wyoming were behind Ellison in the Rebel voting.

Tigers Open SCOL Season At Hillsboro Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night the 1962-63 edition of the Circleville High School basketball team will engage in the first South Central Ohio League contest at Hillsboro.

Both teams have lost pre-league cage games. The Hillsboro Indians dropping a 57-42 tilt to Paint Valley, and Circleville suffering a 56-46 loss at the hands of the Lancaster Gales.

Saturday the Tigers open the home season, hosting Chillicothe. The Ross County member of the Central Ohio League won a 63-60 thriller from a determined Piketon quintet in its initial contest.

The Indians, always a tough team to beat in their own gymnasium, handed last year's Tigers a pair of losses.

Paul Reiss' cagers will be looking for a win Friday. Both teams lost key personnel through graduation and it promises to be a good contest.

Reiss will probably start Garold Dade and Dave Bass at guards, Bob Waple at center and Tom Smith and Clesson Thomas at the forward slots. This is the same group that started the Lancaster tilt.

Waiting to give able assistance will be Dave Hannahs and George Trego.

Other South Central Ohio League games scheduled for Friday night find Washington C. H. at Pleasant View, Wilmington at Miami Trace and Franklin Heights at Greenfield.

Saturday Hilliard will travel to Franklin Heights for a tilt and Hillsboro will go to Portsmouth.

By sweeping the last five games in Baltimore, the Orioles won their season series with Yankees, 11 games to 7.

Toledo Grid Mentor Named Ohio Class AA Coach of Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tom McHugh of Toledo Central Catholic's state champions today was named Ohio's Class AA high school coach of the year in the annual Associated Press poll. The Class A honors went to John Santillo of Lowellville (Mahoning County) who has led his Rockets to four unbeaten seasons in a row. McHugh, 30-year-old Notre Dame graduate who was known as "Touchdown Tommy" when he graduated at Central Catholic a dozen years ago, succeeds Middletown's Glenn (Tiger) Ellison as the No. 1 Class AA mentor. Santillo succeeds Ken Herman of Fostoria St. Wendelin. In seven years at the Central Catholic helm, McHugh has compiled a 50-16-3 record culminated by 10 straight this season for the state title and the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy. He took over the head coaching job in 1956 after a year as coach of the lightweight contingent. McHugh is married to his high school sweetheart and has two children, Kathleen 3, and Kevin 1. He played in the North-South all-star game, and spent a year with Toronto in the Canadian league where a back injury forced his retirement. Santillo, also 30, is a graduate of Youngstown East High and Mississippi State. He took over the Lowellville berth in 1956 after the Rockets had a six-year record of 10-36-2 and was considering giving up football. In his six seasons—after a couple of lean ones at the start—he has compiled a 35-13-2 mark. Warren's Ben Wilson finished second in the Class AA balloting by sports writers, coaches and officials. Ellison, with the flashiest offense in the state, was third, and Bob Lewis of Wyoming—whose team shut out 10 straight foes this year—was fourth. Others high in the double-A race were Carl Benhase of unbeaten Circleville; Earl Bruce of Sandusky, John Writz of Cleveland St. Ignace, Jerry Wampfler of Lancaster, Gaylord (Hap) Lillick of Louisville, Joe Lukac of Port Clinton, Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon, Charles Buckenmeyer of Napoleon, Denny Barrett of Youngstown Mooney, and Tony Mason of Niles McKinley's 1961 state champs. Bob Irvin of Norwalk St. Paul was runnerup to Santillo, followed by Don Carico of Malvern, Gene Keel of West Jefferson, Bob Hiel of Piqua Catholic, Gene Coleman of Smithville, Wade Watts of Fairfield Union, Bill Frazier of Bellville, Joe Rich of Mineral Ridge, and Dick Thurnes of Tiltonsville. Ohio's high school coaching association will select the North-South all-star squads and coaches, for next August's game at Canton, at a meeting here the weekend of Dec. 7-8. But in a statewide sentiment-seeking vote, conducted in connection with The Associated Press selections, McHugh was an odds-on choice to pilot the Yankees and Ellison ran away with the southern voting. Wilson of Warren and Bruce of Sandusky were close to McHugh in the north, while Benhase of Circleville and Lewis of Wyoming were behind Ellison in the Rebel voting. USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

Tigers Open SCOL Season At Hillsboro Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night the 1962-63 edition of the Circleville High School basketball team will engage in the first South Central Ohio League contest at Hillsboro. Both teams have lost pre-league cage games. The Hillsboro Indians dropping a 57-42 tilt to Paint Valley, and Circleville suffering a 56-46 loss at the hands of the Lancaster Gales. Saturday the Tigers open the home season, hosting Chillicothe. The Ross County member of the Central Ohio League won a 63-60 thriller from a determined Piketon quintet in its initial contest. The Indians, always a tough team to beat in their own gymnasium, handed last year's Tigers a pair of losses. Paul Reiss' cagers will be looking for a win Friday. Both teams lost key personnel through graduation and it promises to be a good contest. Reiss will probably start Garold Dade and Dave Bass at guards, Bob Waple at center and Tom Smith and Clesson Thomas at the forward slots. This is the same group that started the Lancaster tilt. Waiting to give able assistance will be Dave Hannahs and George Trego. Other South Central Ohio League games scheduled for Friday night find Washington C. H. at Pleasant View, Wilmington at Miami Trace and Franklin Heights at Greenfield. Saturday Hilliard will travel to Franklin Heights for a tilt and Hillsboro will go to Portsmouth. By sweeping the last five games in Baltimore, the Orioles won their season series with Yankees, 11 games to 7. Smith and Clesson Thomas at the forward slots. This is the same group that started the Lancaster tilt. Waiting to give able assistance will be Dave Hannahs and George Trego. Other South Central Ohio League games scheduled for Friday night find Washington C. H. at Pleasant View, Wilmington at Miami Trace and Franklin Heights at Greenfield. Saturday Hilliard will travel to Franklin Heights for a tilt and Hillsboro will go to Portsmouth. NEW YORK (AP)—Mark Goodson of the packaging firm of Goodson and Todman, is firmly dedicated to the proposition that most people watch television to be entertained.

It is a premise which the firm has found to be financially rewarding. Goodson - Todman game shows, all seven of them, currently occupy a record 16 1/2 hours each week on two networks and have built what the trade newspaper, "Variety," estimates as a $25,000,000 operation.

At the moment, the shows are "I've Got a Secret," "What's My Line," "To Tell the Truth" and "Password" on CBS and "The Price Is Right," "Play Your Hunch" and "Say When" on NBC. On Dec. 31, still another audience participation show will be unveiled on NBC when "Match Game" has its premiere.

Does the public really have an insatiable appetite for watching other people play games or win prizes?

"Well, people seem to like 'What's My Line?' and 'I've Got a Secret' and 'The Price Is Right' year after year," said Mark Goodson. "And the game and panel shows have proved to be popular with the day-time audiences too. 'Match Game' involves two teams of three persons each (one a celebrity, of course) who match up words for points. Even Goodson, who presided over its creation admits it is almost impossible to explain.

"But you can play it in your own living room," he added. "And it can be a pretty interesting gambling game as well as being as easy or sophisticated as you want to make it."

CBS' "Fair Exchange," as expected, will get the axe just before Christmas. The cancellation means a rejuggling of Thursday and Friday night CBS shows. "The Alfred Hitchcock Hour" moves back a day into the "Fair Exchange" spot, while "The Nurses" will be shoved back to Thursday evenings 10-11 p.m. hour, finally out of competition with NBC's "Dr. Kildare." An hour-long version of "Twilight Zone" will take its place.

Meanwhile, "Fair Exchange" will be given another chance — provided it can find a way to shrink to half-hour size. CBS says it made a firm offer to pick up the show again in a shorter form. Recommended tonight: "Bob Hope show," NBC, 8:30-9:30 Eastern Standard Time—Jack Benny, Ethel Merman and Bobby Darin are guest-stars.
